

New Fiction by Tod Denis: “Drilling Position”

Brendan always felt smaller than the other guys in the locker room. Probably it was their triceps, military tats, and/or their ability to call each other “bro” and sound natural.