FALLS ON NIGHT / image by Amalie Flynn

EACH NIGHT MY MOTHER DIES AGAIN

Each night the phone rings—

Your mother has passed.

Each night I expect to be relieved, but night falls on night.

Each night she is the mother who makes waffles, batter bubbling from the sides of the iron, the mother who squeezes fresh orange juice, and serves soft-boiled eggs in enchanted egg cups. Each night I squint into her face as she carries me over the ocean waves, her arms my raft.

Each night she refills Dr. Zucker's prescriptions for diet pills and valium. Each night she waters her rosebushes

with Dewar's. Each night I see her hands shake, her brows twitch. Each night she adds ground glass to the chopped liver, rubbing alcohol to the chopped herring.

Each night she puts a chicken straight on the lit burner without a pot. Each 2:00 a.m., Mrs. Finch from 6G phones—

Sorry to say your mother is naked in the hallway again.

Each night my mother is strapped into her railed bed at Pilgrim State, curled into a fetal position, her hands fisted like claws.

Each night she calls to me from her plain pine coffin, calls me by the name she gave me, the name she hasn't forgotten.
